BANKERS MEET IN LOS ANGELES

Speak on Branch Bank Appearance of Man in Questions

The railroads were taxed to build highways and are being taxed to maintain them," he said and pointed out that in the meantime the highways are being broken down by the smashing of pieces under the pounding of ponderous motor trucks and motor buses.

Lower Rates Laid Talk With the railroads in this line, it is the talk of remedy by reductions in rates," he continued.

"If the public will but realize that the board represents them and that the decisions on wages affect not only the railroads directly, but indirectly, the rates of wages everywhere, the public will take more interest in being properly informed, and in adequately informing the Labor Board upon pending questions, life war is over, but the thunders of the captains and the shouting of the crew will be heard, and if the general public is not careful the Labor Board may mistake these noises for the voice of the people."

"Hence it is public opinion which will bring about a restoration of such normal conditions as will restore railroad credit and this restoration will go far to restore public prosperity."

"When the necessary adjustments are made in the railroad world, including wages paid only for work done when the excess profits taxes and the pernicious surtaxes on personal incomes are disposed of in the way the Secretary of the Treasury recommends; when our import and export tariffs are fixed on a basis under which foreign nations can buy from us and we can sell to them; when the absurdity is abandoned of running ships at a loss and taxing us for the losses; when the absurdity becomes manifest of building highways for competing carriers to use free as against invested money of hundreds of thousands of citizens who have put their money in good faith into the railroads; when the government pays the railroads in good faith the money it owes them; only then will this country be in a position to start on a new career of business expansion and industrial development."

The Alameda, Calif., plan of school savings was detailed today before the savings bank division, American Bankers Association convention by C. J. Du Four, superintendent of the schools of that city, in an address on "school credit and thrift."

The impracticability of bringing together "the divergent opinions and policies of the hundreds of fire insurance companies" in the United States "into any successful effort to

Appearance of Man in Mexico Causes Stir

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 5.—(By The Associated Press.)—Reports that Elmer Dyer, of Tacoma, Wash., had been named personal representative of President Harding in Mexico, which were current some time ago, were revived here today by the newspaper Excelsior. Information "obtained with the greatest difficulty" from high Mexican sources, according to the newspaper, indicated that Dyer, from the U. S. department in Washington, expected to pave the way for speedy recognition of the Obregon government by the United States, were brought to Mexico City by Mr. Dyer, who was expected to arrive here this afternoon.

Mr. Dyer was said to have been given an autographed letter to President Obregon from President Harding, this being the fourth of an important series of communications between the two executives.

Man Unknown

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—President Harding has no personal representative anywhere, was the statement authorized today by George B. Christian, secretary of the President, when attention of the White House officials was called to reports published in Mexico City by the newspaper Excelsior that Elmer Dyer, of Tacoma, Wash., had arrived in Mexico City as the representative of Mr. Harding.

When the necessary adjustments are made in the railroad world, including wages paid only for work done when the excess profits taxes and the pernicious surtaxes on personal incomes are disposed of in the way the Secretary of the Treasury recommends; when our import and export tariffs are fixed on a basis under which foreign nations can buy from us and we can sell to them; when the absurdity is abandoned of running ships at a loss and taxing us for the losses; when the absurdity becomes manifest of building highways for competing carriers to use free as against invested money of hundreds of thousands of citizens who have put their money in good faith into the railroads; when the government pays the railroads in good faith the money it owes them; only then will this country be in a position to start on a new career of business expansion and industrial development."

Making Better Meals

Better meals do not always come from better cooking. Poor food, soured with condimental sauces or savory gravies, will not build muscle or brain. Better meals come from simple, natural foods that are rich in body-building material.

Shredded Wheat

with milk and fruit makes the ideal, perfect meal. You couldn't buy a better meal with a million dollars—and it only costs a few cents.

Two Blacuits with milk make a nourishing, satisfying meal and cost but a few cents. Delicious with raisins, prunes, sliced bananas, peaches or other fruits.

UNLAWFUL INTERFERENCE

We print on another portion of this page a letter to the Editor, in which the writer claims that The Republican's course toward the strike is evidence that the "press" has been ordered to "throw the hooks" into the oil workers. It also declares that there is no soviet in operation in the oil fields.

What The Republican's opinions are, are of no importance, but the facts that The Republican gives as news are of very great importance. The attempts that have been made so far to contradict The Republican's news have accomplished nothing, but to reveal heated opinions that differ from The Republican's views of the keeping of order in the strike area. For instance, the flat denial made last week by the "committee" in the oil fields that any attack had been made on Pacific Oil company's plant, was followed by an admission, officially, by the Fresno spokesman for the oil workers organization, that the attack did take place, with an attempt to dispute about the "number" of men that took part in the attack. That the attack had been made, with pretensions of authority, remains substantiated.

It is interesting, in connection with the question of the conducting of a "soviet" and the exertion of unlawful authority, to note the news report in yesterday's issue of The Republican, from Coalinga, of the repression of work on the Herron Oil Well Supply company's warehouse. The strikers' patrol took charge of a crew of eight men, marched them to the oil headquarters, threatened them and ordered them out of town. A guard was placed of strikers about the property, to prevent any activity there except such as the strikers might choose to permit.

Officers of the strike declare that these men would be treated with courtesy. But they were not permitted to pursue their lawful undertakings because these would not please the strike.

This is sovietism.
To say that the oil workers have not sought to confiscate the wells or to operate them in their own interests is not a disproof of unlawful interference. True, they might have attempted to confiscate, but have not done so. What they have done, on the showing of their own officers, is to paralyze all activity, industrial or commercial, in the strike zone that does not please them. It is the will of the strike committee solely that is being observed.

There is little need to bandy about the meaning of words. The objection to the state of affairs is not to the word "soviet," but to what it means. The objection is to a condition of public security where a particular set of men, unauthorized by law, can enforce their will on the rest of the community through the exertion of force.

There is forcible prevention of civil rights in Coalinga and in other parts of the oil fields, and it should be stopped.

It is the business of the sheriffs and the constabulary in these territories to keep the peace. Any aid that citizens of these districts give in re-enforcing these officers, should be under the free direction of these officers. The "law and order" committee is in an unlawful manner, even if "with courtesy," interfering with the right of free citizens to come and go and pursue their labors.

EXCITEMENT DANGER

We desire to print the following letter in this place because it contains that modicum of truth that not only does injury to persons but extreme damage to the sincere discussion of social issues. Public discussion can lead to clear thinking and efficient action, or it can lead to confusion of purpose and wasteful social antagonisms. The communication follows:

Editor Republican: In your editorial this morning you say: "But it is very important to know whether the tragedy was caused by a defect in the track, or by a defect in the machinery of the car or by mismanagement on the part of the driver."

In my humble opinion the tragedy was caused by a defect in the morals of the people of Fresno county in general and of the management of the fair in particular. Human life has gotten to be the cheapest commodity in the world today. The public demands thrills and the Fair Directors catering to this savage instinct of the people offer expensive speedways and large prizes to men to risk their lives for the money and the fame to be derived from this sport. Every one of the thousands who attended the races and thus encouraged the risks expected some great thrill and the majority of them would have been disappointed had not the tragedy occurred. This is not the first nor twentieth time such things have occurred. What is there in life auto race to benefit mankind? Where human life is at stake with so many odds against it as it is in an auto race, the sport is but a very little way removed from the sport of the ancients in the gladiatorial combats, the bull fights, etc. For the protection of the lives and morals there should be a law enacted by the Legislature and the Congress prohibiting such races. Fast driving on race tracks and on the highways are taking a daily toll of human life that is amazing.

Let the good people of the state demand that such dangerous exhibitions cease.

Respectfully,

W. H. WINTERS.

Taken at its face value, this would mean that the directors of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce as managers of the District Fair, would welcome fatal accidents on their race track as a means of adding to the popularity of the fair. Nothing could be farther from the truth. And we say this in no unattractive ascribing unusual qualities to the directors of the fair. They are average human beings, animated by the sort of impulses that move other men, and only particularly fitted to the position that they occupy because of their experience in the management of public affairs and their willingness to devote time and pains to them.

If the people of Fresno county and of central California generally would be found to love to see life and limb risked on a speedway, we could expect on the average to find that the directors of the chamber of commerce would feel the same way, and to about the same extent. But of course this is not true, and we think the writer of this communication knows that it is not true.

Yet it is so perilously near the truth as to sound almost true, even though it is false; and that is the reason why Mr. Winters writes about it, and we ought to consider it.

The unusual does excite interest in all of us. If things are going to happen, they will arouse more attention if they occur excitingly and spectacularly. If there is a fire, which destroys hundreds of thousands in property and may endanger lives, hundreds and even thousands run to it. We venture to say that Mr. Winters and the writer of this would both be there, and it would be merely nasty cynicism for anyone to say that we would go or we would not go because of the incidental danger to human life. We, all of us, as long as we are still interested in life, and all means until we are more than 125 years of age, love the things that are doing, love the excitement of them, and will sacrifice something to see them.

But saying all this, does not say that we are avowedly delighted in bull fights of fatal automobile accidents, or that we would plan them as such. For we, everyone of us, are different men at different times in the day. We feel excitement, and then we listen to our own sober common sense and our feelings of decency.

While it may be true that the general fact that automobile racing is dangerous will increase attendance, it is also true, among the same set of men and women, that every effort will be made to lower or absolutely end the element of danger. We do not think there is a man or a woman that attended the fair, or who might attend the fair next year, even with a knowledge that an accident might occur, but would bend every effort to prevent dangerous conditions on the track, and would severely condemn anyone who did anything to permit or increase danger.

The important thing in all these matters is to understand clearly what conditions are, and what has happened. If there is danger, it should not merely be vaguely realized. We should know how it occurs, and why. This is the means by which, after we run to fires, we join minds in preventing them. This is the way we can preserve the interest in auto racing and make it safe for the men who furnish us the sport.

MORE OF IT

It is to be hoped that the City Commission will see its way clear to give effect to the desire of the park board to extend Roeding Park.

This is a branch of the city's business which we would have no fear of being itemized to every tax payer.

In fact, we should rather like to see all city tax bills itemized as follows: To police protection, twelve months, so many cents; to fire protection, so many cents; to park maintenance; so many cents; to sewer facilities, so many cents; to street building and maintenance, so many cents, and so on. Perhaps this is not feasible, but it surely would be an educational benefit. There are a few items of city expense, like county and state expense, that are "overhead." They are going to run "like death and taxes," whether we want them or not.

But the most of the cost of city government, as of other government is "policy" expenditure. We pay these things because all of us or a majority of us think it is a good thing for the most of us or all of us, that this expense be undertaken. And in virtually every case, if the city did not do these things, we would have to hire some one else to do them for us, and usually not so well.

It is this kind of expenditure that it might be well to itemize.

But the park is a prime consideration. It is worth the proportionate expense in dollars and cents, to every resident of Fresno and to every investor in Fresno, in a contented and healthy populace.

The proposed addition of acreage to Roeding park is a good municipal investment.

IF THE TAXPAYERS MET IN CONFERENCE

The International Conference to Discuss Disarmament met yesterday with a full attendance of delegates from Great Britain, Japan, France, and the United States.

All the representatives were selected from the ranks of the common everyday citizens, upon whose backs rest the greatest weight of vast naval and military expenditures.

No politicians were admitted. Two representatives of an armor plate concern and a munition works were thrown out, breaking the sidewalk in four places.

The conference was called to order by the chairman, whose remarks were greeted with applause.

"The world," said he, "has had its belly full of war. It wants no more. [Applause.] We have had five years of it and the victors are almost as bad off as the vanquished. War doesn't pay—except to a few. If our politicians could keep us out of war, we'll keep them out of office. [Applause.]

"There is now a great deal of talk about another great war. The war preparations and expenses of all our nations are greater than they were before the great war. The world is full of suspicion, distrust, jealousy, and intrigue. The stage is being set for the match that will touch off the powder. We are now here to do what we can to prevent such a calamity to civilization." [Prolonged applause.]

A spirited discussion followed, in which it was unanimously agreed that the great mass of common people had no feeling of hatred for the great mass of people in other nations. Propagandists should be shot at sunrise, or earlier if the light was sufficient.

It was agreed that the common people of each nation represented in the conference had no desire to encroach upon the rights or possessions of the other nations.

The delegates united in expressing the opinion that what they wanted was to go on living in peaceful, progressive prosperity, free from the dread and suspicion which naval competition engenders. It was also agreed that vast naval competition, with its staggering cost at a time when the people of the world are already groaning under their burdens, will lead to total bankruptcy or a revolt of the victims against their leaders.

It was then proposed that naval expansion be restricted for a period of ten years.

"But can we trust each other?" asked a delegate. "If one nation honestly stops and another only pretends to stop, the honest man will be caught with his hand in the trap, and will be at the mercy of the dishonest man."

"That's where we come in," answered the chairman. "No nation can prepare for war without the help of the masses of its people, and if we are sincerely opposed to war, we can refuse to help."

The proposal was carried amid great enthusiasm and the secretary was instructed to send an engrossed copy to the rulers of each country, with the pointed demand that the wishes of the conference be faithfully carried out, failing which, said rulers would be carried out.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

TEACHERS

Teachers, more than poets, are born and not made. It is unfortunate that there are so few of them, while the world needs so many.

Most men of education will tell you that they have never had more than five or six real teachers in all the years they have spent at school.

If you have the gift of communicating what you know to others, you will find teaching a fine profession, inspiring and remunerative.

If you turn to teaching merely as a means of earning a livelihood you can find something else to do. You do a great wrong to thousands of pupils whose interest in education you will soon absolutely destroy.

The trouble with the public schools and they are far from what they should be is almost altogether in their teaching staffs.

Buildings are as a rule adequate, equipment is all that could be asked.

But the old Greeks could teach more in a garden than the average modern college instructor can in a splendidly equipped building and with all the wisdom of the ages gathered into books for his use. Boys and girls hate school because school is never made interesting to them.

If it could be made interesting, their minds would supply the curiosity required to get information.

But it is difficult for a man or a woman who has no curiosity about mathematics, for example, to make any one else curious about it.

If they have learned it painfully and by rote, they will attempt to teach it in the same way, and will fail. Education will never be what it should be till the pay in schools and colleges is sufficient to attract able men and women, and plenty of them.

Our greatest failing today is in education, which is the most important duty of our government.

This may be disputed by poor teachers. It will never be disputed by rich teachers. They have always known that it was true, even if policy may have prevented their saying so.

Fresno's Yesterdays

Taken from the Files of the FRESNO REPUBLICAN

Forty Years Ago Today

Prof. T. J. Kirk and wife, having just returned from a visit to White Bridge, report that as being one of the pleasantest resorts in the valley. J. R. White, the proprietor, has taken great pains to provide for the comfort and convenience of his guests, his amiable lady is a most admirable hostess, and the river abounds in game fish, while the surrounding country furnishes splendid shooting. Ducks, jack rabbits and cottontails are very numerous. There is also a herd of about 100 antelope that feed in the vicinity.

A Defunct Whale—It has probably not occurred to everybody that sometime in the history of Fresno county it was the home of whales and other monsters of the deep. That such was the case there can be no doubt. Some years since portions of a large skeleton were unearthed on land occupied by Mr. Ashbrook in Liberty settlement, but the animal to which they belonged was not determined. A few days since Mr. Ashbrook brought a recently found bone to this place which would judge at once pronounced a part of a defunct whale. And all discoveries of this kind should be preserved as mementoes of curiosities if nothing more.

Twenty Years Ago Today

The many friends of Padurach J. Paine, one of the most noted pioneers of Fresno, will be delighted to learn that he will arrive here within a few days. The exact date has not yet been ascertained, but if learned in time he will be met at the train by a concourse of old friends headed by the Wienerwurst band and he will be presented with the freedom of the city in a splendid powder box. Mr. Paine is a native of Kentucky and when the present city of Padurach, Ky. was founded it was the confidential of the California Risk Exchange, the so-called "Nutting plan" yesterday named the following: H. H. Welsh, A. G. Witham, R. F. Salselle, Chester H. Howell and W. R. Witham.

Harry Barker appears at the Barton Opera house in "The Flying Princess," a musical comedy.

JAPAN'S PLACE IN THE PACIFIC

Bulletin, National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Japan, which from a position of isolation in the Asian seas, has emerged to become one of the dominant factors in the Pacific, might be termed the narrower and less compact Britain of the Far East. Says a bulletin from Washington, D. C., head quarters of the National Geographic Society:

"Like the British Isles, the Japanese islands form the fringe of a great continent; both were in the hands of petty kings and grew into a centralized nation; both looked abroad for expansion; both have received of their safety and future prosperity as dependent largely on sea power.

The Remained Center
"But there are differences as well as likenesses between these two island nations. Since she began to grow into an empire Great Britain has resolutely turned her back on Europe in so far as territorial acquisitions are concerned, and has sent her colonies into the remote parts of the world. Japan, on the other hand, has acquired large blocks of the neighboring continent, but has expanded somewhat in other directions also. Great Britain has become the headquarters of a scattered, distant empire. Japan has remained so far the center of her empire with her possessions drawn relatively closely about her.

"Though Japan has imperial ambitions even in the early centuries, as indicated by the fact that she once conquered Korea and laid claim in the sixteenth century to Formosa and even the Philippines, the national life, when Commodore Perry opened communications with the West in 1854, was confined to the three main southern islands of Japan proper and the small islets near their shores. Not until the seventies did the government begin to develop the north, the big island to the north—the Japanese island, Hokkaido, the fifth and northernmost of the large islands of the Japanese group, and there were striking similarities to the Kurile group, a chain of small volcanic islands, comparable to the Aleutians, which stretch from Formosa northeastward to the tip of Kamchatka. In 1875 Russia induced Japan to take the Kuriles and relinquish all claims in Sakhalin.

Wara, Have Profited Japan.
These expansions in the north have been of little value for the cold, bleak northern lands have never appealed to Japanese colonists. Yezo is sparsely settled, and the Kuriles have only a handful of inhabitants. Japan's new step was to the south.

In 1879 she conquered the Loo-Choo archipelago, extending from the southernmost of the large Japanese islands southward for 750 miles to Formosa. China laid claim to these small but populous and fertile islands, as she did to Formosa, but she finally consented to Japan's annexing them.

"Japan's victorious war with China in 1895 gave her a strategic territorial advantage and in addition greatly heightened her prestige among the nations. China ceded the island of Formosa (now officially known as Taiwan) with its 35,000 square miles of territory and its 3,500,000 inhabitants; and the Chinese peninsula of Manchuria on which battle-scarred Port Arthur is now situated; and Korea, Russia, France and Germany forced Japan to relinquish the Loo-Choo peninsula, and Russia later, in further extended her influence into the mainland of Asia and among the islands, she obtained a protectorate over Korea, a sphere of influence in Manchuria, and the southern half of the island of Sakhalin.

Far East Pacific
"As a result of the world war, Japan has made further territorial acquisitions north, east, south and west. She has taken over the eastern Siberia, she has taken over the German lease on Kiaochow in China, and by receiving a mandate for the three Micronesian islands of former German islands in the Pacific north of the equator, she has fared thousand of miles eastward into the Pacific.

"The magnitude of Japan's present interests in the Pacific can better be understood, perhaps, by imagining her island territory referred to the more familiar Atlantic and the directions reversed. The world group of Japanese islands would then extend from an Shetland Islands southward along the coast of Europe and Africa for 2,700 miles. Formosa would be situated just north of the Cape Verde Islands. The Micronesian or Ladrone Islands, which the mandate would occupy a position near the Azores; and the hundreds of islands of the Caroline and Marshall groups (the remaining mandate islands) would stretch across the Atlantic from near the Cape Verde Islands to Cuba. Honolulu, under this transposed geography, would occupy about the position of Santa Fe, New Mexico.

"As direct outlets for emigration, Japan's mandate islands, because of their restricted area, are of little importance. But as bases to facilitate naval operations and trading activities to the south and east they are comparable in importance to Hawaii for the westward activities of the United States. And Japan must make the islands "posts" for their keep. She is stimulating the systematic planting of coconut groves, and her traders are fast replacing foreign laborers in the islands with those of Japan. The islands add only a few thousand miles of territory and some 50,000 people to the Japanese empire. But the scattered islands "posts" are the equivalent of one million square miles of the Pacific."

John Rorden Has Laid an Egg

Man-O-war, folks,
You should see the smiles
That beam and blossom
On the countenances
Of Charlie Harkness
And Le Roy Payne.
Their pet Ostrich
Fulled the head of him
Out of the sand
And read in The Republican
That eggs are going up
To that place
Where very soon they'll be
A dollar a dozen
And his heart bled
For the poor lads
Whose good wives
Will be cutting them down
To just one egg
At the breakfast time,
So he said to himself,
Says he to him,
"Here is where I
Do something or other
For my country,
And for the taxpayers
Who furnish me parking space
And something to eat,
And for my dear friends,
Charlie Harkness
And Le Roy Payne,
And for John Rorden,
Of the town of Selma,
Who is my god-father,
And for posterity,
I, such there should be,
So I'll get me busy
And lay some eggs."
And he did so
And Charlie Harkness
Discovered it
And got all excited
And hunted a telephone
And called up Le Roy Payne,
Who was still wrapped,
As the saying is,
In the arms of Morpheus,
For the hour was early
And Roy hustled over
To Roeding Park,
Where the two of them
Hung over the fence
And spoke kind words
To John Rorden
And complimented him
On his good work.
An apply a day
Drives sickness away,
Is an old saying,
And a pretty good one
And I'm wondering
What an egg a day
Of the size of the egg
Laid by John Rorden
Would be apt to do.
If it were gathered fresh
As soon as laid
And immediately prepared
For table purposes
It would furnish
Plenty of yolk
To cover a dozen vests,
But if it should happen
To be stale
What a terrific stink
There would be.
But John Rorden's eggs
Will all be fresh
For Charlie and Roy
Will spend their time
From this time on
Watching over the fence
Watchfully waiting,
John Rorden,
Who is not too proud to lay.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE WEATHER PROPHET

Robin tumbles out of bed,
Peels his shiny eye,
Tilts his little feathered head
Toward the frosty sky.
"Sunny southern skies for me
Till another Spring,
Winter's on the way," says he.
"Goose is on the wing."

Long before a flake of snow
Flutters from the sky
Jenny Wren says "Time to go,
Goose is winging by.
Pack your duds and come along
To a summer clime,
Mr. Goose is never wrong
And he says it's time."

Squirrel hustles all about,
Storing piles of food
That will last the winter out
For his furry brood.
Storms will soon be breaking loose,
Little time to spare;
From the sky calls old man Goose:
"Honk! Honk! Honk! Beware!"

Farmer with a worried face
Patches up the roof,
Hustles round to make the place
Snug and winter proof.
There's corn to shuck and feed to grind
And hogs to kill and try,
And Winter's never far behind
When Mr. Goose goes by!

THE HOME-KEEPERS

By Helen Cowles Le Cron in Contemporary Verse reprinted in Literary Digest.

A little dream keeps house with me—
Outside, the surge and flow
Of city throngs, of kind, of new—
The world the great ones know.

But we—we wash the cup and spoon
And make the copper shine,
And knit, on summer afternoons,
Beside the trumpet vine.

We smile at many a secret joke;
We weed the lettuce bed;
We awaken the heart and pause to stroke
The snow-white kitten's head.

The neighbor's hear our song, and say,
"How queer some folks can be!"
They wonder what can keep us busy,
My little dream and me.

But I am wise and therefore know,
For sewing up a seam
Or keeping cupboard shelves just so,
There's nothing like a dream!

ENGINEERS TO HEAR DRAYER

Large Gathering Will Be Held Saturday

The largest gathering of professional engineers ever held in the San Joaquin Valley will be held in Fresno Saturday, October 8 at 3 p. m. in the council chambers of the city hall on the occasion being the visit of C. E. Drayer of Chicago, secretary of the American Association of Engineers.

Mr. Drayer will address the engineers on the subject of "The Brouder Field for Engineering Service." All professional engineers and technical men and their ladies are invited.

Drayer has been actively engaged in engineering society work for the past nine years. He was formerly secretary of the Cleveland Engineering Society, and organized the Association of Ohio Technical Society. He was one of the pioneers in the awakening of the profession to the need of its taking part in the solution of political and business problems as contrasted with the technical field. "An engineer who has not a business consciousness and is not active in public affairs today," says Mr. Drayer, "falls short of the larger vision of engineering."

In his address Saturday night Mr. Drayer will tell about the aims of the association and its accomplishments in its various lines of activity. The association has grown to be the largest of technical men in existence with 25,000 members.

The Fresno chapter has about 115 members.

Letters to the Editor

One of the nation that a few pig headed razor brained, wholly selfish, plutocrats may reign supreme, immune from want, hunger and cold, secure in the knowledge that their loved ones will not suffer deprivations in the days of sickness and dull times. The senator's salary paid in a greater part by the government, ninety-six per cent of humanity, like the seasons, goes on unfalteringly. Rain or shine it makes not one iota of difference. Why do not we begrudge this senator his salary but why not start by cleaning his own house, slash his juicy tenderloin and in the middle.

The writer is not a wage earner, but by Lucifer let's have fair play and try and solve this dilemma some other way than by reducing to virtual pauperism the father and brother that is compelled each day to carry a new bag that his little family group may have in time a little shabby hook, a cozy little home. In all fair play, can the average wage earner hope to save much more?

FIRE HOUSES ARE INSPECTED

Commission Makes Tour With Acting Chief

Accompanied by Acting Chief Caldwell, the fire department members of the fire commission yesterday afternoon made a personal inspection of all fire houses in the city. The commission members saw every thing, their scrutiny missing nothing. They had engine hoists lifted that they might see the lug nuts of the fire apparatus, and they opened closets, doors, and poked under kitchen sinks.

As the members of the commission with Caldwell entered the various fire houses a song brought the men on duty to a halt to sing. The song being the "Garden of Eden" was the chief or assistant chief to a house. At the first house, the sudden clasp of the door and the look of the men to "quarrel" led the commission to think for a moment that a fire alarm had sounded.

At one house the commissioners wanted to know why extra fire hose was stored in an out-house, and at another place they wanted to know why a small collection of paper and combustible material was in an adjoining yard, but they appeared to be in fine shape at the various houses.

The board was much interested in the various pieces of apparatus, and they heard with much consideration a statement from Caldwell as to conditions of fire-fighting equipment.

The information gathered by the board will be discussed at the next meeting of the commission. In the group visiting the fire houses were Mayor Hart, Milo L. Rowell, Frank Hoffman, and D. L. Newman.

Peach and Fig Crops in Packing Houses

More than 50 per cent of the peach and fig crops of the valley have been received at the packing houses of the California Peach and Fig Growers' association, according to J. F. Niswander, vice president and general manager.

Packing and handling of the crops is going forward very satisfactorily, it is stated.

Exhibit Leaves For Riverside Fair

At least two more notable exhibits of Fresno county's prize products will be made before the close of the 1921 fair season. Proceeded by a carload shipment of the yield of vineyards, orchards and farms, Peter H. Rasmussen, exhibit director of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce, will leave tonight for Riverside.

He will install an attractive exhibit at the Southern California District Fair which opens on next Tuesday and continues until and including Sunday, October 16. Most of the materials used in the exhibit which won the grand prize at the state fair at Sacramento will be used again in the south.

At the close of the Riverside fair the county exhibit will be moved to Los Angeles for showing at the California Floral Show and Horticultural Exposition to be held in Exposition Park, Los Angeles, October 22 to 28.

Club News OF THE SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY DISTRICT

Mrs. John Bates, as president of the Wednesday Club, yesterday was hostess to the club members and several invited guests, entertaining at her home on College avenue. The living room were brightened with flowers, and other autumn decorations. During the afternoon, Miss Louise Kridger gave several readings, among them being some clever bits of telephone conversation. This was followed by a three act farce, "The Innocent Drummer," and "The Coast Vixen" given with musical accompaniment by Mrs. Earl Towner.

LOYD GEORGE IS OPTIMISTIC

Believes in Success of Armament Meet

INVERNESS, Scotland, Oct. 5.—(By The Associated Press.)—The prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, in a speech here today concerning unemployment, deviated in his introduction to refer optimistically to the forthcoming conference in Washington on limitation of armaments, declaring "it will constitute one of those outstanding events which will affect human history for centuries."

On the Irish question, the premier declared the London conference October 11 between representatives of the British government and the Sinn Féin can "only succeed if those who enter it make up their minds definitely and resolutely to trust to the common sense of their own people and do not try to reconcile the extremists."

Mr. Lloyd George said he had hoped to further the Irish question in the highlands, but that through no fault of his own or his colleagues he did not succeed.

"At any rate, when we enter the conference which will be held in London," he declared, "we will do so with what is known as the Inverness formula which was signed in this very chamber and dispatched to the representatives of the Irish people."

Dealing with the unemployment situation, the prime minister emphasized that it was not an ordinary trade depression, but a world condition due to shattering effects upon the world's trade, credit and competition.

UNEMPLOYED OF LONDON PROTEST FAILURE OF CITY TO AID THEM

Growd of unemployed workers in Trafalgar Square, London, hearing denunciation of borough councilors. This picture gives a good idea of the industrial conditions in England. SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 5.—Pushing her eight-year-old daughter before her into the waters of the bay, Mrs. Louise Helen Murphy of Los Angeles last night leaped from the end of an apparently deserted pier in an effort to commit suicide, according to the police report. Occupants of a bath house nearby, attracted by the screams of the little girl, Dorothy, rescued both mother and daughter. ACT TO REMEDY CAR SHORTAGE

Rail Commission Takes Steps To Save Grapes

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—The Railroad Commission took active steps today to alleviate a shortage of refrigerator cars to move the California grape crop to eastern markets, a situation which the commission characterized as approaching a crisis. The railroads and refrigerator car companies were appealed to and the Interstate Commerce Commission was urged by the commission to co-operate.

At Santa Rosa great quantities of grapes are piled along the tracks with no cars available to move the tonnage. It was reported to the Railroad Commission, while at Los Angeles an equally serious situation exists, the Lodi Growers' and Shippers' League informed the commission that there were 2,000 tons of grapes in the field and packing houses and 200 cars daily were imperatively needed.

Field inspectors sent out by the commission reported that the next three weeks would see an even worse situation if more cars were not made available. Railroads and refrigerator car companies said they were doing their utmost to cope with the needs of the growers and attributed much of the shortage to failure to release cars in the east.

MADERA C. OF C. PLANNING WORK

Directors are Considering
Financial Matters

MADERA, Oct. 5.—A special meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held last night to discuss financial matters of the organization. While there is ample money pledged to meet the expenses of the association for the current year, collections are slow and difficult with the result that bills are accumulating without the means to pay them. A plan for hastening collections was discussed last night and will be worked out in detail and put into effect as soon as possible.

The resignations of directors A. W. Heavens and Walter C. Mayo were presented because of stress of other business. They were accepted.

The secretary was directed to draft a letter to the governor asking that he include in his call for a special session of the legislature a request that the special session consider legislation which will govern and adequately regulate the use of public highways by automobile trucks.

Secretary Winslow presented a report showing that of the 15 counties in the state, nine have a lower tax levy than Madera, one has the same, namely $2.15 and 38 have a higher rate. Kern county, according to the report, has the lowest rate, $1.45 and Santa Cruz has the highest rate $2.65.

The matter of the appointment of a city planning commission has been under discussion by the chamber for some time. The city trustees have offered to appoint such a commission if the chamber of commerce will nominate suitable candidates. At last night's meeting the president was instructed to act as a nominating committee to suggest to the chamber the names of three candidates for the commission.

ORPHEUM OPENING TONIGHT

MANY ATTRACTIONS ARE BILLED

With the Orpheum vaudeville troupe, which is scheduled to open at the White Theater tonight, the statement is made that the Orpheum is the first vaudeville troupe to bring to Fresno more than the usual number of prominent stars and attractions.

Dates are already set for many of these plays and personages, and it is assured that Francis X. Bushman and J. H. Hays, in person, will play here on October 13, bringing their sketch, "The Poor Rich Man," which this week is at the Oakland Orpheum, and which has just closed a two weeks' engagement in San Francisco where it headlined the entire fourteen days of the engagement.

Carlyle Blackwell, another motion picture celebrity, is to arrive here two weeks after the Orpheum performance. Both of these stars are announced as being more than mere curiosities, as both are said to have genuinely interesting playlets.

A combination of the talents of Frank Wood and B. H. Wyde and George McKay and Otis Arline, two standard Orpheum acts are booked to appear on October 20.

Some other features which are to play here in the immediate future are the Canines, Spanish dancers; Allen Stanley, the photograph record star; Felix Adler and Frances A. Rose, the musical comedy stars, to say nothing of the personal appearance of Helen Keller, the blind, deaf and formerly dumb marvel, who comes accompanied by her life companion and tutor, Anna Sullivan Macy.

During her act, Miss Keller converses with her audience by means of the artificial methods which she has learned from Miss Macy.

At more recent dates, the Orpheum is to bring here, according to its announcements, the presence of Cora Reed to the County Auditor's last day of June of each year, and all information regarding delinquent taxes of previous years will be furnished by the County Auditor (E. A. Mower, Fresno, Calif.) upon request.

The delinquent tax books are delivered to the County Auditor's office on the first Monday in March of each year, and are delivered to the County Auditor's office on the first Monday in March of each year, and are delivered to the County Auditor's office on the first Monday in March of each year.

Roundup

Special to The Republican.
BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 5.—Bootleggers' missions to sell their wares that they approach federal prohibition agents, urging them to buy, is the latest in Kern county, according to Thomas J. Nicely, enforcement agent for central California.

Nicely made a wholesale roundup here late last night and today, arresting seven men. The local police department announced these arrests for similar violations, while City Marshal Porter Attorney of Taft looked another violator in jail.

The following men were arrested by Nicely with the assistance of deputy: K. L. Smith; R. E. Wheeler, an employee of the interview service station; Peter Angeles, proprietor of the Western home, East-Bakersfield; J. W. Peterson, 3400 Broadway, Cudahy, a clerk; and W. E. Wilson, 12 E. Jones, who is a Parker, who gave these occupations as all workers.

R. L. Davis, H. D. Robert and Mrs. J. P. Smith were arrested by Detective Shumway and Tice, assisted by Officer A. M. Dime.

Minsky arrested Ernest Goehnel, a bartender, who is said to be a "great bootlegger." It is alleged that Minsky found four quart bottles of moonshine whisky in a pair of boots, which were in a suitcase with various tools of the bootlegger trade. Minsky declared that the defendant had two quarts in each boot, making him a "regular bootlegger."

He was released this morning on $1,000 bail furnished by S. N. Opham and City Sheriff of Taft. He is charged with transporting liquor.

The foolish man who built his house on the sand

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal its taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner, Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

CUTLER STORE LOOTED OF $400

Proprietor Has Gun;
Man Escapes

SPECIAL TO THE REPUBLICAN.
CUTLER, Oct. 5.—The pool hall and general merchandise store of E. Schunda was burglarized at an early hour this morning, an unknown thief succeeding in making away with $200 in cash and $200 worth of merchandise and jewelry before officers reached the scene.

Schunda was in his establishment at the time and confessed the burglar with a gun and demanded that he leave. The fellow ran, and Schunda immediately summoned an officer, but no trace was found of the thief. The unknown burglar gained entrance to the establishment by cutting a hole in the door and carrying out the lock.

Officers here believe that the robber may have been the same man who burglarized the Randolph store about a week ago.

Plan Formation New High School District

LIVINGSTON, Oct. 5.—At the regular meeting of the Livingston Board of Trade on October 13, action will be taken looking toward the formation of a high school district here. After a committee had got preliminary plans for an election well completed last summer, it was discovered that a new law prohibited the formation of new high school districts except in cases where the territory sought to be included had an assessed valuation of at least $200,000. The proposed Livingston high school district lacked that valuation.

It was said by the district attorney that the purpose of the new law was to stop the creation of numerous small high school districts in thickly populated communities. At the same time, however, it works to the disadvantage of such communities as Livingston.

The board of trade will consider seeking for a branch high school of the Merced union high school district, or starting a movement for the repeal of the new law.

KINGSBURG, Oct. 5.—The home talent program number that was promised to the patrons of the regular lecture course, was given at the local high school auditorium last evening to a large and appreciative gathering.

The numbers on the program were: Male chorus, given by the Swedish Mission church; "The Anchor Hauler," solo, selected, Miss Elsie Carlson; piano solo, "Overture," Weber, Dora, by Miss Lillian Brandvik; ladies trio, The Nelson Trio; "Open the Gates of the Temple," readings, "The Interview," Marc Twain, by Henry Dushoff; duet, "There's Only Pat After All," special request, Paul Peterson and Raymond Stricker; anthem, "Hark! Sundstrom; piano solo ("Waltz, Mooskowsky"), Miss Hilda Nordstrom; cornet solo, "The Song That Brought My Heart Away," (Von Tilzer), by John Jacobson; solo "The Heart of the World," Mrs. Caleb Anderson.

The keynote of Rev. Sundstrom's address was, "Recreation, mentally and physically." He spoke of the imperative need of giving the homeless boy recreation, and the tired business man who is constantly straining his mentality with no physical relaxation. His address, though brief, drew home facts well established.

River Waters Low In Success Region

SUCCESS, Oct. 5.—The river is extremely low at this place, and there will be practically no force until the fall rains begin. Pumping plants have been taxed to capacity for some time. Swimming at the beaches is discontinued for the season, owing to the low water.

TULARE'S TAXES SHOW INCREASE

Bill Is $22,000 More
Than Last Year

VISALIA, Oct. 5.—Tulare county's state and county tax bill for this year is $2,891,729.92 which is only $22,000 more than last year despite the increased assessment throughout the entire county. Figures completed today by County Auditor Biral and handed to the county tax collector, Miss Audley Crowley, show this amount upon the books to be paid in the forthcoming two installments.

Of this sum "outside" property will be $2,191,737.18 and the balance will be paid by the six incorporated cities of the county as follows: Tulare, $82,100.33; Visalia, $138,072.25; Porterville, $98,552.69; Dinuba, $74,332.44; Landeray, $69,555.66; Exeter, $58,158.41.

To these amounts must also be added the Dinuba city taxes of $21,428.25 exclusive of sewer and street bonds, Dinuba being the only city in the county for which the county tax collector collects annual taxes. Other city taxes are collected by the cities themselves.

For convenience of figuring the taxes are divided into school districts. The Dinuba school district will pay the largest amount of taxes of any of the 130 districts in the county, figures being $58,618.46.

To the newly formed Kennedy Meadows school district, far back in Kern river canyon, goes the honor of paying the smallest amount of state and county taxes. Only one piece of property there has been assessed and this man will pay $5.90 taxes. This is supposed, under the law, to pay for the school teacher, insurance on the school house and other expenses of the school. The fact the school is maintained by popular donations pledged by the parents of children in the district.

Bitter Struggle Looms in Murder Trial at Madera

MADERA, Oct. 5.—A bitter struggle is promised in the case of Victor Del Bono accused of the murder of Ole Gustavson at Fawcett last Saturday. Gustavson was secured the services of Barrett and Barrett as attorneys. David Barrett has been active on the case, his father, Joseph Barrett, being out of the city.

Following the questioning of Albert the 11 year old son of Del Bono by District Attorney Sherwood Green, Attorney Barrett took the boy in hand and as a result of his questioning has announced his conviction that any statements previously secured from the boy were secured by menace or other improper means. Albert is being kept at home with his mother under bond of $500 to insure his appearance when wanted by the prosecution. It is believed that Del Bono's defense will be an alibi.

The preliminary examination has not yet been set. The defense announces that as soon as it is not application for bail will be made.

KLEEN-MAID BREAD

Dough Reaches the Proper Degree
of Fermentation in a Special
Room---Kept at the Right Temperature

After leaving the mixer the dough, placed in large troughs is sent to the fermenting room. This is a large room, kept at the right temperature (about 70 degrees) and here the dough is brought to just the right stage of fermentation. This is an important step in the process as on this depends largely the lightness of the bread.

From here the dough is sent to the dividing and scaling machines.

It is very interesting to watch the development of a loaf of bread, as it is produced by a large, modern bakery such as this. Please feel free to call at any time and go through our plant.

WORLD'S SERIES STARS KNOWN HERE

MEUSEL, KELLY PLAYED IN FRESNO

OTHERS STARTED IN COAST LEAGUE

Among the diamond stars who are taking part this week in the world's series struggle between the New York Giants and Yankees, are a number who are well known in the San Joaquin Valley and along the Pacific Coast. Many of these stars started their baseball days here on the coast and their faces are familiar here.

An fan watched the bulletin board today, the names of at least a dozen of the world's series players were mentioned, and their exploits talked over by those who had seen these players in action here on the coast in past years.

Perhaps the best known of the world's series players is Emil Meusel, better known as "Irish". Meusel, who holds down left field garden on the Giants club made his debut in Fresno in 1913 when he played in the old State League sponsored by "Hon" Berry.

Later in the same season, Meusel was traded by the Angels. He had a trial with Washington in 1914, but was turned out to Rhome in the New York State league where he stayed until 1916, when he was drafted by the Chicago Cubs of the National Association. The Cubs drafted him in 1917 and turned him back to Los Angeles. In 1918 the Phils grabbed him and he stayed with them until this season when he came to the Giants in a trade for Red Hersh.

"Irish" once had a weak arm, but he has completely overcome this now and is a good outfielder. Kelly played here in the National League, and one of the most earnest workers on the Giants lineup is also well known locally. Kelly appeared here as pitcher for Sam Houston's nine and again played with the San Mateo against the Cubs. Since getting to the big league, he has played some winter ball in the San Joaquin Valley.

The Giants bought Kelly in 1915 from the Victoria Club of the Northern League and later traded him. He came back to last year and has held first base regularly. He is a powerful hitter and a fair fielder.

Peckinpaugh played for Portland. Roger Peckinpaugh, one of the best shortstops in the major league, who holds down a berth on the Yankees' lineup, played for the Portland club in 1911 and 1912. In 1914 he was traded to the Yankees and acted as manager from September 15 until the close of the season.

Peckinpaugh is a brilliant hitter and one of the smartest players in the game. B. Meusel and deVormer Combs. Bob Meusel was a San Jose boy who started in baseball when he played first base for Calumet in 1917 and the next year for Spokane. He jumped into prominence as a third baseman for Vernon in 1919 when his batting earned him the title of "Babe" Ruth of the Pacific Coast league.

He came to the Yankees in 1920 and has alternated between first base and the outfield. At deVormer, one of the Yankees' second string catchers, came from the Coast League where he started for Vernon for two years. He is regarded as one of the best young catchers in the game. Quinn is Yankee Veteran.

John I. Quinn, veteran of the Yankees' Club has been in baseball since 1908. He played for Vernon in 1913 and 1914, then for the White Sox in 1915. He went to the White Sox in 1916, a good pitcher and a good fielder. He came to the middle of the team. He still has a few good games left in him.

William A. Cunningham, utility outfielder on the Giants, went into the major league this year after ten years on the Coast. He played last year with Seattle. He is a good later and a regular fourth before Meusel entered the Giants' lineup. Dave Bancroft, shortstop on the Giants' aggregation, played with the Portland club in the Pacific Coast League in 1912 and remained there until 1916 when he was purchased by the Phils. Last summer he was traded to McGraw, who used him to plug up a bad hole in his infield. Bancroft has proved to be a valuable player, but he is not as handy as he was in the past.

George Kelly, home run king of the National League, and one of the most earnest workers on the Giants' lineup is also well known locally. Kelly appeared here as pitcher for Sam Houston's nine and again played with the San Mateo against the Cubs. Since getting to the big league, he has played some winter ball in the San Joaquin Valley.

EXTENSION OF WORK PLANNED

Classes Are Planned At State College

Courses in extension work will be offered at the Fresno State College as soon as classes can be organized and instructors secured, according to an announcement made yesterday by President C. L. McLane. The courses will be offered during the afternoons and evenings of regular school days, and will also be held all day Saturdays.

Five different courses will be offered, as follows: Credits toward the general elementary certificate, credits toward advanced university standing, credits toward junior high school certificate, credits toward the special high school certificate, and credits leading to the bachelor's degree.

The classes will be offered under the following conditions: The applicant must pay the regular registration fee and must also pay any additional fees that may be required; the classes will be given at the college or at any convenient place where the classes may desire after consultation.

President McLane also stated that extension work classes would be organized in other cities and towns where the demand was great enough. There have been a number of persons applying for extension work already, according to Mr. McLane. The selection of subjects to be taught in the extension classes will be left entirely up to those enrolled in the classes, President McLane said.

"Mirage" Cities are Back Into Acreage

BEND, Ore., Oct. 4.—Several "mirage" cities, built on paper about ten years ago in the sagebrush country of central Oregon along the supposed route of a railroad that failed to appear, are being turned back into acreage by refusal of owners of the city lots to pay delinquent taxes.

Between the years of 1909 and 1914, when the railroad was expected, ambitious city planners laid out several town sites and sold lots to people in many parts of the United States. Suleman took a few dollars down and payments as low as fifty cents a week for the land.

When the railroad failed to appear, most of the land owners became discouraged and abandoned their property. Now county officials are busy turning the towns back into acreage. In some cases the owners are still paying and will realize on their investment and courage if the railroad ever does build.

In the town of Imperial, one of the "mirage" cities, all but three per cent of the assessed valuation has gone delinquent. The townsite was worth $8,120 on the assessor's books and the taxes for 1920 were $349.28, about $10 of which were collected. Imperial is 60 miles east of Bend. Promoters of Terrellville, another sagebrush town, laid out 178 blocks, with 20 to 22 lots in a block, nearly all the lots 25 by 100 feet. Terrellville originally was named Hillman, a combination of the names of Hill and Harriman, the late railroad magnates. There are a few business buildings and homes at Terrellville and the county expects to collect about $50 of the $2,544 tax here.

Harbor, eight miles south of Bend, with about 250 potted lots has been taken off the map and thrown back into acreage.

Order Release of Broker From Prison

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Lewis Shavener Morris, former Wall Street broker today was ordered released from the confines of Westchester county, where he had been a prisoner for three months under the poor debtors' act. He obtained his freedom through a decision by County Judge Young before whom proceedings were started last week.

Morris, who is a member of one of the oldest families of New York, was adjudged a poor debtor through a suit instituted by Charles Shugart, who alleged that he had lost more than $10,000 in dealings with the defendant and his partners.

At the hearing last week Morris testified he had stripped himself of all personal belongings, but had been able, through the financial assistance of his wife, to continue membership in several fashionable clubs.

Judge Young said he found no successful contrivance of Morris' contention that he had turned over all his assets to satisfy creditors.

English Official Given Credit For Parleys on Peace

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—Credit for initiating the negotiations for peace between the Irish republicans and the British government is generally given by the majority of Irishmen to A. W. Cope, Mr. Cope is assistant under-secretary at the office of the privy council in the office of the chief secretary for Ireland in Dublin castle. He came here from the English customs service.

It is not often that an Irish Nationalist or a Republican can be found who will trust an English official but Mr. Cope is the exception. The republicans trust him as can be seen by the way they dealt with him in carrying out the terms of the truce, while the Nationalists, and there are still many of these despite the elimination of their party by Sinn Fein, looked upon him as the savior of Ireland.

Incidentally Mr. Cope's popularity in Ireland just now has contributed to the circulation of a strong tip that a horse named "Cope" after him, is likely to win the English Derby in 1922. Many Irishmen are preparing to put their money on the rearing which is owned by Martin Fitzgerald, proprietor of Freeman's Journal, and a well-known figure in the business and sporting world. Irishmen seem to put quite much faith in the name of Cope as in the horse itself.

This Store Joins Enthusiastically In the City-Wide Celebration

The Lower Prices Are Here!

—You have doubtless read, day after day, of the thousands of people who have been thrown out of employment all over the Nation. Millions of workers are idle—factories are closed down or are running on short time—almost entirely because millions of people are not buying the things they need and have the money to pay for.

—America is today the richest country in the world. We have more money than any other people on earth. We have the richest resources, the best farming and manufacturing facilities, the best railroads and stores to distribute the goods.

—But, during the war, Americans started to learn to do without things, and now they are still doing without them, when there is no real reason for such thrift.

—So this great National Movement has been organized to tell people that

The One Quick Way to Create Nation-wide Prosperity Is for Everybody to Buy The Things They Need

—Nobody is asked to be extravagant. Nobody need buy more than their reasonable desires demand. But, now that prices are down to the lowest point where those that make and sell them can afford to put them, it is the privilege of American men and women to possess the things that they would normally buy and at the same time HELP TO GIVE PROSPERITY TO AMERICAN INDUSTRY EVERY TIME THEY MAKE A PURCHASE OF GOODS.
